Statement concerning lifetime of FRÄNKISCHE StormPipe

The technical lifetime of a product covers the time span in which the warranted characteristics of a product are given and the planned utilization is possible without restrictions. The requested period of effectiveness for the product is usually restricted either by operational reasons or by the change of utilization requirements. Hence the technical lifetime has to match or can considerably exceed the planned utilization period.

For plastic pipes like StormPipe, the relevant norms and standards including all normative test methods are designed to certify for a minimum product lifetime of 50 years. We can confirm that StormPipe is produced according to these norms and standards.

The product lifetime also requires the observance and compliance of the relevant installation norms and FRÄNKISCHE installation guideline.
